Lye home

Lye family, but after nine months of living in the exclusive North Naples gated community, Lye and his wife decided to move closer to downtown Naples, in the Isles of Collier Preserves community, to be closer to their children's school.

Selling his home in Talis Park had been a challenge for Lye, who had the property on and off the market for over two years with minimal activity before hiring Elite Auctions.

"The reason we put it on the market with the auction company is because the Realtors have not been able to do the job," said Lye, who joined the PGA Tour in 1977 and played for 18 years.

The home saw 25 potential buyers who visited during scheduled previews of the home and more than 40 potential buyers who showed interest in the property in just one week of marketing the property with Elite Auctions, said Randy Haddaway, founder and CEO of Elite Auctions.

"Elite Auctions continues to accelerate luxury home sales in SWFL with the sale of the Mark Lye property, the former Rocco Mediate property and others. The buyers are there but requiring a sense of urgency, through Elite's program, for them to react to the market and identify opportunity," Haddaway said.

Elite Auctions sold fellow pro golfer Mediate's Talis Park home for $2.5 million in May, just days before it went to auction.

VF to spin off jeans brands as yoga pants shake up industry

Nathan Bomey
USA TODAY

These jeans are about to split.

The company that owns Lee and Wrangler will spin off its jeans brands into a separate entity as yoga pants and other alternatives shake up the clothing industry.

VF Corp. on Monday confirmed it will offload the denim business and its VF Outlet division into a separate, as-yet-unnamed company.

The slimmed-down company will instead focus on growing its active-lifestyle brands, such as The North Face and Jansport.

In a related move, VF will move its corporate headquarters from Greensboro, North Carolina, to metro Denver. The new jeans company will be based in Greensboro.

The move to ditch the identifiably American Wrangler and Lee brands comes as consumers have increasingly opted for alternatives to jeans, such as yoga pants.

Though the brands are closely associated with an American way of life, the new company will seek to "extend its geographic footprint with a sharp focus on Asia, building on its established presence in China," VF said.

The new jeans company will have more than $2.5 billion in annual sales.

Scott Baxter, who led the jeans brands from 2011 through 2015, will become CEO of the new company.

VF expects the spinoff to be completed in the first half of 2019.

"Our jeans platform is a successful, sustainable business with iconic global brands and a clear path to value creation as a standalone entity," VF CEO Steve Rendle said in a statement.

Revibe

Rich Brancaccio, a former North Carolina school psychologist, invented the Revibe technology. He is the CEO of Revibe Technologies.

Brancaccio spent most of his career specializing in attention-deficit disorders and autism, creating Revibe as a noninvasive option for kids who are easily distracted. Estimates are that 1 in 5 children in the United States struggles with focus and attention.

"Funds from angel investors at Tamiang Angel Funds will help our quest to leverage technology to empower those who face unique challenges," Brancaccio said in a statement.

Revibe's wristband is available for purchase at revibetech.com and Amazon.com. There's a 90-day 100 percent money back guarantee with free shipping and free returns, according to the website.

Over the past year, Revibe received funding from the U.S. Department of Education, the North Carolina Department of Commerce and the Kenan Institute of Engineering. The company is developing technologies that rely on data to improve on-task behavior and productivity for those who struggle to stay focused and attentive in their day-to-day activities.

The company is working on other educational-related products.

Across its three funds, Tamiang Angel Funds has made more than 30 investments in more than 20 companies, totaling more than $12.5 million. Its members are high net worth individuals and families who not only invest in promising startups but also in expanding businesses in the United States, with a preference given to Florida-grown companies.
